If he is wise chough, when he falls, to linger there only long enough to learn it quickly and go on, even his stumbling becomes an asset, and it is a mere matter of time before he reaches a very certain destination.

The bright child doesn't have to be burned continually. The wise man or woman learns his or her lessons quickly and go see on. "Don't worry when you stumble—remember a worm is about the only thing that can't fall down," some one has said most admirably. We can all afford to be exceedingly charitable toward others.
